Items of Interest from our Exchanges

Wynot Tribune: Mrs. McQuirk went to Dakota City Tuesday to visit her sister.

Hartington News: Mrs. Chas. Ireland went to Hubbard Tuesday to see her mother, Mrs. Chas. Varvay, who is ill.

Pender Republic: Jack Duggan came down from Hubbard yesterday morning to shake hands with Pender friends.

Wakefield Items in Wayne Democrat: Miss Katherine Hodgins, of Vista, visited her sister, Mrs. A. L. Chase, over Sunday.

Allen News: Frank Lovell and Mrs. Katie Minter, widow of Brant Minter, were married at Sioux City, where Frank is motorman on a street car.

Waterbury Items in Ponca Journal: O. Breslin, of Vista, visited his sister, Mrs. H. Marron, Tuesday. Margaret Twomb, of Vista, and Margaret Kavanaugh, of Dixon, are visiting with Dora and Clara Kavanaugh.

Pender Times: J. Bliven was down from near Hartington Tuesday. A. M. Hiscote, an old Thurston county man of the Wallkill-Quinton neighborhood, was visiting friends in this section Monday. He is living in South Dakota.

Emerson Enterprise: Miss Martha McLaughlin and Chas. Beiderdorf spent Sunday at the home of Miss Julia Davis, in Nacora. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon visited with their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Holenkamp, at Carroll, from Tuesday until Thursday.

Dixon Tribune: Wm. L. Wolfe was in Sioux City Saturday. W. L. Ross had business in Sioux City and Dakota City Saturday. Mr. Ross, after disposing of his interest in the bank here, is contemplating on moving to his former home in Dakota City.

Lyons Mirror: Henry Kohlmeier and wife were down this week from Wakefield. Clarence Kahl, who is teaching in the Homer school, was here over Sunday. He was a member of that bright, wide-awake class of graduates at this place last spring. A class that "had a mind of their own" and were not afraid to let people know it. Just as the class of 1911 had also.

Winnebago Chieftain: Omar Kilbourn has sold out his shop in Wall-hill and, after a three weeks' stay in Homer, working for Sherman McKinley, expects to start a barber shop here, in the building east of the Horning hotel. Mesdames Thos. Ashford and S. A. Combs and Misses Lou Hirsch, Lela Hirsch, Lena Wilkins and Lorraine Murphy, all of Homer, were guests last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. F. Nichols.

Sisou, Ia. Star: The body of Frank Stamper which was found in the Missouri river several months ago and buried in the Sioux cemetery, was taken up and shipped to Daubury today for interment. Stamper was a member of the auto party which disappeared early in October while en route from Sioux City to Omaha and it is thought the auto went into the river, carrying five people to their death. Three of the bodies have thus far been recovered, but no trace has been found of the machine or the other two.

Homer Star: Harriet Van Valin, of Pender, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leon Ream, this week. Mabel Ream, daughter of Dr. Ream and wife of Walthill, is visiting at the E. J. Smith home this week. Margaret Ashford is back from Lincoln, spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Thos. Ashford. Seth Barnes, an old timer in Homer, but now of Omaha, is here visiting with friends and renewing acquaintances. The debris of the Farmers Exchange site is nearly cleared away. Sand is being hauled in order to get ready for spring building. Audrey Allaway and wife, who went to Dakota City Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. Allaway's mother, Mrs. H. R. Altomus, and P. C. Reed, of Emerson, last week closed a deal whereby he became the owner of the Henry Walway farm, seven miles east of Homer.

Sioux City Journal, 10th: District court this afternoon will resume work with the continuation of evidence in the case of E. J. Morris against T. J. O'Connor and P. C. Reed against the Sioux City Service company. It is expected that both cases will be given to the jury tomorrow afternoon. The Morris-O'Connor case is a dispute over the condition of 8,884 bushels of corn sold at Homer, Neb., last May. The other suit is a claim for $1,500 damages brought against the service company for injuries alleged to have been the result of a collision of a street car and automobile last September. One important case of the week will be that of Mrs. Sweeney against the Burlington railroad for $2,950 damages. It is claimed that she was injured December 14, 1912, when riding on the "Lincoln accommodation" from Sioux City to Walthill, Neb. Her petition stated that while the train was switching near Winnebago she was thrown from her seat.

Sioux City Journal, 11: District court under Judge John F. Oliver yesterday afternoon took a sudden adjournment from its regular session to hear contempt proceedings against C. C. Ream, of Dakota City, Neb. Ream was fined $10 for impeaching the credibility of T. J. O'Connor, party to a suit brought by E. J. Norris. This is the first time in the last twenty-five years that similar action has been taken in district court in Woodbury county. When Judge Oliver ordered a recess at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, Ream was in the lower corridor of the courthouse. Several jurors strolled down stairs, and in their presence Ream made remarks discrediting O'Connor's veracity. These remarks were repeated in the presence of O'Connor, who promptly informed his attorney of the facts. An information was sworn out. Ream was arrested and brought before Judge Oliver, who imposed the sentence. Ream readily admitted guilt in the matter. Later he stated that he had been falsely accused by O'Connor of complicity in the robbery of a store at Homer, Neb., last spring and had shown this method of resenting it. The suit interrupted by the contempt proceedings is on a claim of $2,391, alleged to be due on part payment for 8,884 bushels of corn sold by Morris to O'Connor last May. Argument was started yesterday afternoon and the case probably be given to the jury today.

Sioux City Journal, 9th: Laura Purdy, 415 West Sixth street, has filed a petition for divorce from Dennis Purdy, a helper for the Milwaukee road, to whom she was married at Dakota City, Neb., on November 9, 1908. Extreme cruelty is set forth as the grounds for issuance of a decree. Mrs. Purdy asks for the custody of the one child, Elsie May Purdy, aged three years. "I don't care if papa, mamma and the whole Sioux City police department, and the officials of Nebraska, object to my marrying Frank; I married him because I love him and because he loves me—so there now; that's all there is to it." Mrs. Helen Barnes-Brienzo, the 14-year-old girl who was married to Frank Brienzo by Rev. S. L. Keller in Dakota City, was the speaker. Mrs. Barnes-Brienzo emphasized her assertion with a stamp of her foot that carried conviction of her earnestness to the mind of the listener. "Besides, I'll soon be 15," she declared with an assured air, as if reaching that age would settle all difficulties. Mr. and Mrs. Brienzo are living in a cozy little home at 510 Chambers street, with the groom's parents. The girl-wife is seemingly content and is already planning for the future when they will have a home of their own. The parents of Mrs. Brienzo have decided they will take no steps to void the marriage annulled, an action of that nature would involve Mrs. Lena Uber, another daughter, who accompanied the couple to Dakota City. Mrs. Uber stated that she did not sign an affidavit that her sister was 18 years old. "The girl who filed out the marriage license did not ask about my sister's age, for if she had I would have told her," declared Mrs. Uber. "I told Helen and Frank before we made the application for the license that in event they asked me about Helen's age I would tell the truth. I told them that it would be impossible to get a license, but that we could try. The girl who filed out the license never once mentioned Helen not being 18. The minister who married them was standing in the office at the time we applied for the license, and said he would marry them. Neither did he mention about Helen being too young to be granted a license to marry. He never asked a question about anything." Mrs. Barnes, the mother, said that while she regretted very much to see the girl married at so tender an age, now that she was married nothing would be done to mar her happiness. The Barnes family lives at Sixth and Lafayette streets.

Sioux City Tribune 6th: A tentative contract for the sale of the $25,000 issue of waterworks bonds was closed by the town council of South Sioux City last night, subject only to the approval of the attorney of the company taking the issue. Sidney, Spitzer & Company, of Toledo, Ohio, are to take the bonds, paying par and 5 per cent interest from December 2, 1912, less $300 attorney's and broker's fees. There were but three bidders, Spitzer, Rorick & Co., of Topeka, Kas., offered to take the bonds at par, less $1,240 in fees, while H. C. Speer, of Chicago, offered par less a "reasonable" fee, and the Toledo concern offered par and $200 fees. All bids were rejected, after which a personal representative of the Toledo company made terms at private sale that were accepted. The council will convene again Monday night to close up the transaction. W. V. Bickelhaupt, representing the Des Moines Bridge and Iron company, appeared and offered to construct the waterworks plant on a commission basis. He gave it as his opinion, however, that the plant proposed could not be constructed for $25,000. While workmen were exploding dynamite in sinking the last of the mat to the bottom of the Missouri river on the Dakota county reclamation project, Major Herbert Oakley and Frederick W. Honens, both attached to the Kansas City engineers' office, were to-day making final inspection of the work. Late today, they pronounced it complete and satisfactorily constructed. This brings to a close the government's activities in this immediate section, except as to repairs on boats that are now in the ice harbor at the mouth of the Sioux river. The next project that is to be undertaken in this vicinity is a long reclamation project. Within a few days, government scouts will begin scouring the banks of the Missouri in that vicinity for a brush bend. When that is located, the work of cutting the brush will be started. It is hoped active construction can be started just as soon as the ice moves out of the river in the spring. Work for the project will be obtained from the Sioux Falls quarries, brought to Sioux City by rail and taken up the river to the Elk Point project on the government tow-boats. Government employees at present are engaged in repairing boats at the ice harbor. The snagger Mandan is on shore. Aside from a general overhauling that it is getting, new boilers are being installed. The brothers of 14-year-old Helen Barnes, who, up to three weeks ago, was a pupil in the Woodcrest school, appealed to Police Master Anna Roberts this afternoon for aid in locating action against Frank Brienzo, 510 Chambers street, a man well known to the police, who took the child to Dakota City, Neb., last night, secured a marriage license and was married by Rev. S. L. Keller, pastor of the Lutheran church of Dakota City. The brothers declared their sister to be no older than 14 years, and told the police matron that the mother today was sick in bed, overcome with grief. They were directed to the county attorney's office and may take steps to annul the marriage. The Barnes family live on Lafayette street. Brienzo is about 23 years old. He is a laborer, but has been known to assist a local detective numerous times on different jobs. It is said that he wears a police star, but Chief of Police O'Showsnessy declared this afternoon that he was not on the payroll of the police department. The couple went to Dakota City late yesterday afternoon, accompanied by a woman who gave her name as Rena Uber. Miss Grace Hamilton, deputy clerk in the county judge's office, issued the license and also acted as a witness at the ceremony. Rev. Mr. Keller conducted the ceremony at his parsonage. He said that the marriage license gave the girl's age as 18 years. The couple is said to have returned to Sioux City today.

Sioux City Journal, 12th: Jurors in the case of E. J. Norris against C. J. O'Connor in the district court last night returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $2,592.15, which includes 6 per cent interest on the amount asked for. The plaintiff sought payment for corn that was sold to O'Connor at Homer, Neb. The defendant alleged that the corn was of poor quality and spoiled in shipment. The issue of the case was whether Norris guaranteed the quality of corn, or whether O'Connor bought it on his own inspection. Charles Voss, of Homer, Neb., probably the best known feeder that patronizes the local market, was here today with a load of heaves and cows. As usual his shipment excited comment from all those who saw the offerings. The cattle were here from and according to Mr. Voss had been on full feed for about four months and showed a fine covering of flesh. Top prices were scored on both kinds, the steers averaging $1,500 pounds and selling for $8.50, while the cows brought $7. ... Invitations to an anniversary dinner gave friends the first hint that Miss Fern Brienzo had been the bride of C. F. Dierking for years. The ceremony took place at Jackson, Neb., just a year ago yesterday. Since that time Mrs. Dierking has been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bramon, 835 Eighteenth street, and knowledge of the wedding has even been kept from them. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Dierking entertained about fifty of their friends to help them celebrate their first wedding anniversary. ... Tales of a daylight highway robbery, in which T. J. McCoun, of Washita, Ia., lost $150, concluded as they were told by two prisoners held by the police in connection with the case. McCoun came to Sioux City with Charles Seely, 26 years old, of Correctionville, Ia. They met at the hotel, 20 years old, yesterday noon and went to South Sioux City. After visiting several saloons here, about 2 o'clock they started for the ice fields at Crystal Lake. Here is where the highwayman appeared and where the stories differ. McCoun, the victim, and Huntley, who with Seely was held by the police, say there was no fourth person. Seely told the police there was. The trio had neared a railroad crossing in South Sioux City, according to Seely's story to the police, when a masked robber appeared at the roadside. When he saw the mask and revolver, Seely said, he fled, accompanied by Huntley. According to Huntley and McCoun, Seely was the robber. The victim declared he was knocked down by the highwayman, who was wearing a white handkerchief as a mask. While he was laying on the ground and the robber was searching his pockets, McCoun said he tore the mask away, revealing the features of Seely. Huntley declared that Seely had dropped out of the party a moment, appearing a moment later wearing the mask. He commanded them to halt. Huntley ran, he said, but McCoun was felled by a blow by Seely, who obtained the money. Huntley said he later was met by Seely. They went to North Riverside, and from there drove to Sergeant Bluffs in a motor car. The case was reported to the police from South Sioux City. Sergeant George Pierce receiving information that two men answering the description of Seely and Huntley had gone to Sergeant Bluffs, went there and arrested Huntley. Seely had returned to Sioux City in a motor car. He was arrested at Fourth and Pearl streets by Patrolmen Harvey. Seely, during his questioning by the police, asked to be taken to the scene of the robbery to prove his statements. He was taken to South Sioux City and held in jail there. Huntley was detained here. When Seely was arrested he had about $80 and Huntley had more than $40. McCoun said he lent Seely $5 with which to come to Sioux City.
